A Message from Our Pastor

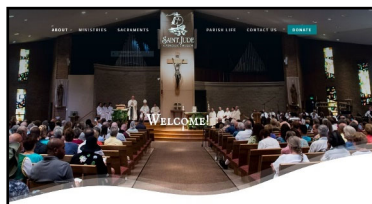

The Providence of God

Believe it or not we are not angels. We are in need of food and certain things to live. It is so easy to get caught up in our lives about what we need and desire for money so we can feed, clothe, and give shelter to ourselves. But as we hear in last Sunday's Gospel one's life doesn't consist in possessions. This does not mean though that we should not worry about food, but rather that we do not need to be preoccupied with money and our time, but rather trust in the providence of God and what he has given us.

It is in the providence of God that we can know that all will be well. This does not mean that we don't have to work or make sure there is food on the table, but rather that we do not have to obsess about it in a way that ends up taking life and energy from us. Our Father knows what we need and does not leave us orphans.

We must also be careful not to assume that because we have faith and are faithful, that we will have lots of stuff and money. We can look to the lives of the saints to see that this is not true. Some of the holiest men and women lived lives of poverty, but were bright lights of the joy of God. One example is St. Francis of Assisi who renounced the wealth of his family to live a life devoted to the Gospel and work of the Church. So let us strive to live our own saintly lives of trust in God's providence, lives of prayer and work devoted to God.

BECOMING CATHOLIC?

St. Jude's RCIA program is a year round program. This model of formation provides a form of learning, centered on the relationship of the individual with the person of Jesus Christ and with his body, the Church. It centers catechesis in the primary place where that relationship is fostered and celebrated, in the community of faith that gathers Sunday by Sunday throughout the year. "Within the cycle of the year the Church unfolds the whole mystery of Christ, from his incarnation and birth until his ascension, the day of Pentecost and the expectation of blessed hope and of the Lord's return." This model also respects the journey of each person. It assumes that those who come seeking initiation will be welcomed whenever they arrive, no matter what time of the year that happens to be.

In this model of sacramental catechesis, the Church uses the language of journey, conversion, discipleship and relationship. Rather than a program of specific instruction, the RCIA suggests a fluid, gradual process of formation, the heart of which is the paschal mystery of Jesus Christ.
