The stewardship of our time, talent, and treasure is conducted in a way that shows our gratitude to God for His blessings.

Glory to God!

The Gloria begins by echoing the proclamation of the angels at the birth of Christ: "Glory to God in the highest!" In this ancient hymn, we join the heavenly choirs in offering praise and adoration to the Father and Jesus through the Holy Spirit.

Starting on Holy Thursday, we will return to the Mass of St. Ann which has been the primary setting at St. Jude for the past decade. We will, however, be singing a "through-composed" version, meaning the "refrain or chorus" will not be sung between verses. When the Gloria is spoken, it is said this way. The music will still be the same glorious hymn of praise that you know and love! If it is helpful to follow along with the words, they can be found on page 6 of Breaking Bread.

Parish Office Closures for Holy Week & Easter

The Parish offices will be closed on these days and no groups will be meeting:

Holy Thursday, April 6th

Good Friday, April 7th

Monday after Easter, April 10th

A Message from Our Pastor

Have This Same Mind Among Yourselves

As we enter the holiest week of the year, I want to direct your attention to this week's second reading from St. Paul's letter to the Philippians—specifically to the verse that comes right before today's reading: "Have this same mind among yourselves, which was in Christ Jesus" (Phil 2:5). We're called to pay attention to the beautiful canticle that Paul has written, not just as some great poem about Christ, but so that we might follow the same path and conform our minds to Christ's mind. What is it that we are striving to follow?

Before you read the rest of this, I encourage you to first re-read today's second reading. Go ahead—I'll be waiting for you with the rest of my thoughts after you are done...

Now that you have re-read the second reading, we can dive into the path and mind of Christ "who, though he was in the form of God, did not regard equality with God something to be grasped." We believe that Jesus is true God and true man, and yet he didn't grasp at the power of that reality. Instead, "he became obedient to the point of death." In our day-to-day life, do we strive to make ourselves look good so that others will have a high opinion of us? Or do we follow this path of Christ and obediently trust in the plan that God has placed before us, even when we might not understand it?

This is what I want to call you to this week as we enter the sacred Triduum. This humble obedience may lead to moments of struggle and possibly even pain. But we can also learn from this beautiful canticle from St. Paul that, from Jesus' humble obedience, He was "greatly exalted." When we follow the path of humble obedience of Christ, the struggles of this week or even this life aren't for naught. God wants to be reunited with us and to rejoice in the heavenly exaltation of the resurrection with us at the end of time. So begin this holy week with the mind of Christ and enter a life of humble obedience to God.

Fr. Thuerauf

OF INTEREST

Why do we cover the sacred images in the church during Lent?

The tradition is to cover crosses and images on the Fifth Sunday of Lent. Neither the Stations of the Cross nor stained glass windows are veiled. As the church approaches Easter, our Mass readings begin to focus more intensely on the Passion, Death and Resurrection of Jesus Christ. Families are also encouraged to imitate this practice and veil prominent religious images in their homes. It helps us to participate in the liturgical season. The unveiling before the Easter Vigil is a great reminder of our own life on earth. We live in a “veiled” world, in exile from our true home. It is only through our own death that the veil is lifted and we are finally able to see the beauty of everything in our lives.
